Eighteenth Sunday After Pentecost

Sacred Scripture never ceases to amaze me regarding its timeliness even though it was written some 2000 years ago! In today's epistle St. Paul writes to the Corinthians "Brethren , I give thanks to my God always concerning you".

These are my sentiments exactly for our parishioners who worked very hard to make yesterday's confirmation ceremony, Pontifical High Mass and reception such a wonderful experience!! (More on this on page two.)

In the Gospel today (Mt 9:1-8) we see again, as we did last week, another proof that yes indeed Jesus , Our Redeemer was and still is God. In healing the paralytic who was lowered down from the roof by his friends, Jesus first says to him "take courage son thy sins are forgiven thee". And of course the scribes right away said within themselves "this man blasphemes who can forgive sins but God?" Jesus knew he would stir them up but he does it to teach then, as he did in last week's Gospel, who he truly is—He is God! All dogmas flow from this truth and anyone seeing this truth has no logical choice but to accept and follow the one true Catholic Church that He Himself founded and actually delegated the power to forgive sins to its priests on the very day of His resurrection from the dead (see JN 20:23). It is also the Catholic Church who received His promises "the gates of hell shall not prevail against it" (MT 16:19) and "Know that I am with you until the consummation of the world" (MT 28:20) In today's Gospel it is the faith of the friends of the sick man that brought Jesus to heal him, first of his sins then of his paralysis. Let us pray that our faith in Jesus continues to grow!

Pro Life Sunday Second Collection—THANK YOU!

Last week's second collection totaled $989 that is distributed to pro life groups that support mothers who have chosen life for their babies. Some important ministries that will receive funding are Brigid's Path for innocent babies born to addicted mothers and to help those mothers conquer their addiction. Healthy Beginnings which provides prenatal care for mothers and babies inside the womb. Rustic Hope helps out single mothers and pregnant teens to provide material goods and also courage for these mothers to not abort their babies! Thank you for helping these organizations help mothers and babies!!
